PIERCED BRASS

PYRO-ETCHED BRASS

FOR HOME WORKERS

A simple, easily acquired and inexpensive means of manual training at home for young and old.

The following pages illustrate many beautiful articles stamped ready for piercing. At the top of each page is stated, whether the articles are supplied in the sheet metal stamped ready to pierce, and to be formed up by the worker, or whether they are mounted and already formed so they simply have to be pierced and polished.

Many of the mounted articles are covered all over with metal, others are partially covered, having wooden edges, rims, etc., which can be finished by burning, or with art stains as desired.

The outfits, materials and supplies shown are the best that can be made.

Articles illustrated can be supplied in brass, copper or german silver.

Everything necessary for this fascinating art will be found in the following pages.

Read the description at top of each page.

DIRECTIONS

CANDLE, ELECTRIC and LAMP SHADES—These articles come in a sheet with design stamped on. Tack the sheet of metal to the drawing board with the thumb tacks, then pierce the outline of the design carefully with very small close holes. After the outline is all completed, fill in the background with small piercing close together. Candle shades and small articles look best very finely pierced. Lamp shades, baskets and larger pieces may, if desired, have larger and more open piercing.

When the design is pierced vien the leaves and flowers with viening tool. This can be well done by pressing the tool into the metal at the outside or stem, then forcing it firmly along through the centre of the leaf or petal, being careful to end each line faintly without any abruptness.

After piercing and viening is done polish all over with steel wool or liquid polish. The former gives a rich, soft, crafty finish; the latter a brilliant polish.

Now remove work from the board, and with a pair of scissors cut out the article on the outside line of design. Bend over all edges with the folder and form the whole into its proper shape, as shown by the illustration in the catalogue, securing it firmly with the shank fasteners.

Bead fringe, if desired, may be attached with the shank fasteners.

If chain fringe is wanted the chain is cut the desired lengths and strung on a piece of wire, after which it is attached with the fasteners.

The metal can now be covered with our art lacquer to preserve the polish.

Glass jewels of different colors and sizes, through which the light shines, may be attached with good effect.

LANTERNS, JARDINIERS, FERN DISHES and all other articles that are supplied in the sheet metal, as described at the top of the pages, are made in the same manner. Follow the piercing, etc., just the same as for the shades, and form up as shown in the illustrations.

MOUNTED GOODS—The articles that are mounted on wood or heavy card, as described above each page, are all ready formed, and only have to be pierced and polished. Where the wood is not metal covered, as is the case with rims of trays, book racks, etc., it can be finished by burning, which gives a beautiful effect, or with our art stains. The frames, mounted on wood or heavy card, have glass easel and back all ready attached, but may be removed easily if desired while piercing.

The work of piercing and viening these mounted pieces is conducted just the same as on the flat sheet metal. They should always be polished with steel wool.
